Computer Use in the Library

Patrons must sign in with their barcode and PIN. Guest passes are available with ID. Access to sign in records or browsing history by outside agencies will require a court order or a subpoena as they are considered "library records."

Patrons who are delinquent (beyond the threshold of $5.00) must address fines and materials owed before they can log on to use the library's computers.

North Babylon patrons may use the computer for 60 minutes per day, on a first come, first served basis. Security software informs patrons when they are within 10 minutes of their allotted time. Librarians may extend this time up to three additional hours at their discretion.

Non-resident patrons are limited to 60 minutes. Librarians may extend this time up to three additional hours at their discretion.

North Babylon patrons have priority over non-residents.

Computer users are urged to save their work to a USB, e-mail or print their work. The library will not assume any responsibility for lost or damaged work/files/disks/USBs/etc.

Printing: 10 cents/page, B&W; 50 cents/page, color. Failure to pay for printed pages will result in computer privileges revoked. Patrons may pay for printed pages at the circulation desk.

The Library prohibits the use of offensive Internet sites and reserves the right to expel anyone accessing these sites; computers are filtered. The Library will suspend the privileges of anyone who creates a disturbance because of personal viewing habits.
